Dear Mr. Traverso:

I just received a copy of your letter telling us of your plans for retiring from the wholesale grocery business and I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for all your business through the years and your fine cooperation.

We wish you will in your retirement or any other business you may go into. Rest assured we will do everything possible to dispose of remaining stock in your warehouse. Our man, Bill Young, will work with you in this situation.

Again, thank you and best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Ronald E. Irwin

Dear Mr. Traverso:

Our Tom McCue was in my office today and told me you were liquidating your business.

We want you to know that we sincerely appreciate the business you have given us over the many, many years. We believe that you have been a very successful concern, and we hope that our products have contributed a little bit to that success over these many years.

May I wish you much health and happiness in your retirement.

Sincerely,

WGD:eb
